

RTS introduces its Traffic Accident Research and Reconstruction Division

Madrid, 13th January 2019 - RTS International Loss Adjusters presented its new department specialising in Traffic Accident Research and Reconstruction to the insurance market. Francisco Galadi, who has more than 24 years' experience in this field, will be managing this new specialised department.

Daniel Ezcurra, RTS' General Director and Galadi, made the presentation accompanied by the Board of Directors and the adjusters who will form this specialised team. D. Celso Rodríguez Padrón, the Chief Justice of the High Court of Madrid also intervened with a discussion on "The importance of technical evidence and specialised experts in legal proceedings".

During the seminar, the audience received detailed information on the different aspects with which the department is concerned, such as working methods, experience, geographic distribution, consistency, having a single interlocutor, etc.

Likewise, they discussed Technical Collision Reports, which are very important for Insurers, given their immediacy and low costs, and which are essential when analysing the biomechanics of the people in the vehicles after low-
